

READING PUBLIC LIBRARY

In June, 1913, Reading dedicated its present library building as a result of a gift of $100,000 from Andrew Carnegie to the city of Reading. A major renovation in 1993 gives Reading/Berks County an outstanding library dedicated to "the cause of literature and public education." Here are the writings of the world, fact and fiction, for everyone to discover.