

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

The street car rail system, begun in 1873, gave everyone the freedom to travel around town. The horsedrawn streetcar was replaced by the electric trolley, beginning in 1893. Originally each employed a conductor and motorman. The last cars operating within the city ran in 1947.